

Attention Public Safety, Emergency Services and Law Enforcement professionals!

The University of Maine at Fort Kent

Presents

Live Response: " Coordinating Local WMD Training for Responding Agencies"

Satellite Broadcast

Wednesday, November 17 2:00 – 3:00 PM ET at the Nadeau Hall Teleconference Center

Join your fellow professionals for this informative event.

Participation in a joint training exercise or drill with other emergency response organizations that could be expected to be called upon in the event of a WMD incident, has proven to be valuable practice in planning and preparedness. Live Response explains the process of development, management, and coordination of training of personnel in WMD response planning.

"Live Response" welcomes live phone calls and invites viewers to network during the program on an interactive message board. This is supported at the Nadeau Hall Teleconference Center.

Broadcast Panelists:

Barbara Biehn - Acting Training Director, DHS State and Local Government Coordination and Preparedness

Brett A. Burdick - Director of Technological Hazards Division, Virginia Department of Emergency Management

Jeffrey W. Walker - Licking County Office of Homeland Security and Emergency Management, Ohio

To register for this free session contact Donald Eno at the University's Academic Outreach office at 207-834-7835. Contact Eno for CEU details.

This is brought to you by the University of Maine at Fort Kent's Academic Outreach Office and Rural Public Safety Administration program.
